

THE MISSING PIECE
A PUBLIC
ARTWORK
CONCEPT AND DESIGN BY ELAINE TRIBLEY
CREATED FOR 'OUT THERE' A SERIES OF INSTALLATIONS TO ANIMATE THE PUBLIC REALM

THE 18TH CENTURY PAINTING
'THE SHIRE HALL'
BY PHILIP REINAGLE

HAS BEEN TRANSFORMED INTO A
GIANT JIGSAW PUZZLE
WITH PIECES SCATTERED THROUGHOUT THE
HIGH STREET, LOCATE A PUZZLE PIECE AND YOU
UNLOCK A PIECE OF CHELMSFORD'S HISTORY.

THERE IS, HOWEVER, ONE PIECE MISSING. SEE IF YOU CAN IDENTIFY WHICH PIECE IT IS.

YOU CAN SEE THE ORIGINAL PAINTING ON SHOW AT CHELMSFORD MUSEUM
IN OAKLANDS PARK, MOULSHAM STREET.

TO FIND OUT MORE ABOUT 'THE MISSING PIECE' AND OTHER 'OUT THERE' PROJECTS
FOLLOW THE TRAIL ONTO CHELMSFORD CITY COUNCIL'S WEBSITE AT www.chelmsford.gov.uk/outthere

 Chelmsford
City Council

THANK YOU TO ALL THE BUSINESSES IN CHELMSFORD
HIGH STREET WHO HAVE SUPPORTED 'THE MISSING PIECE'

Artist: Elaine Tribley
Title: The Missing Piece
Materials: aluminium, foamex, vinyl print
Dimensions: main image 2.5x1.5m
Date: 2013
Budget: £2500
Client / Commissioning Agency: Chelmsford City Council

“At the centre of Elaine Tribley’s discovery trail of work is an 18th-century painting of Shire Hall. Created by Philip Reinagle in 1794, the painting depicts a very different world. Yet much of the heritage it shows still exists in modern Chelmsford. Now transformed into a giant jigsaw puzzle, the painting’s pieces have been scattered throughout the High Street for you to find. Locate a puzzle piece, and you unlock a piece of Chelmsford’s architectural history. There is, however, one missing piece. Look out for the puzzle box lid located near Shire Hall to find the full picture. Can you work out which piece is missing?”